

Effectiveness of Nationwide Strike Not Yet Determined

Headquarters of United Mine Workers Confident Developments Today Will Confirm Union's Estimate of 600,000 Men Being Idle.

(By The Associated Press.)
INDIANAPOLIS, April 3.—The first test of strength of a nation-wide coal strike came today, the beginning of the suspension Saturday an annual holiday among miners, having failed to determine the exact effectiveness of the walkout. The United Mine Workers headquarters expressed confidence that the day's development would confirm the Union estimate of six hundred thousand men, among them are one hundred thousand non-union workers who laid down their tools for an indefinite period of idleness.

A tactic truce between miners and operators is counted on apparently to make the Union estimate with certainty. Few if any operators of the big coal centers strongly unionized expected to attempt to run in non-union and open shop districts.

JOHN L. LEWIS' STATEMENT.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Union Coal miners who suspended work Saturday in the nation-wide coal strike were declared today by John L. Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers to be desirous of ending the suspension of operation at the earliest possible date but that resumption of production entirely depends upon the future attitude of coal operators. Lewis before the House Labor Committee, hearing the Bland resolution for the appointment of a commission to investigate the industry said his organization would welcome any impartial and judicial investigation of the general conditions of the bituminous and anthracite industries.

Two Patrolmen Are Suspended

Commission Hears Pleas of Put In Requisition For Equipment

Guilty from Bates and Heflinger and They Are Relieved of Only for 30 Days.

The Danville police commission held an extended session this morning at the courthouse to investigate the behavior of certain officers alleged to have been involved in a recent disturbance at the home of Marie Tressie on Liberty Hill.

The session was executive as all such sessions usually are by the commission after hearing the evidence of numerous witnesses including some officers. Police Officer O. W. Bates and Police Officer E. F. Heflinger had been suspended without pay for 30 days for visiting the house of Marie Tressie.

Both officers were former police officers who were involved in the affair but whose term as policeman expired last Friday night was not present at this morning's session. The case was to have been decided on this case but it was reported that he had left town.

Both Bates and Heflinger were primed and informed that another lapse in conduct would mean dismissal.

The trend of the evidence against the officers is not known but J. W. Yarborough, secretary of the commission who was authorized to make a statement, said that there was no evidence involving any other police officer. Heflinger entered the affair following the visit made by Police Officers Price and Lewis who were decoyed to the home of the woman to secure her statement involving the visits made by other officers. Mr. Yarborough said that there was no evidence that either of the officers had made a report to the chief of police as to what they found.

It was further stated that both Heflinger and Bates had thrown themselves on the mercy of the commission making a full admission as to the charges brought against them.

Their place will be filled by substitutes during the coming 30 days.

Docket Is Set For Civil Term

The civil term of the Corporation Court convened this morning with a full docket of 12 cases to come up for action. This morning the session was devoted to setting the docket, that is going over all of the cases and setting dates for trial within the coming two weeks. The jury is summoned to the next term of court and it seems that the session of court will be a lengthy one. The suit involving the heaviest damages in the present docket is that of Mrs. Pearl Ruffin against Mrs. Berryman Green for $20,000 damages. This case has been set for April 12th.

Officers Capture Large O'Possum

Police Officers R. A. Adams and L. O. Borton late Saturday night captured a large o'possum near the north end of the street car bridge opposite the Danville Mills. The officers were walking slowly on their beat and caught sight of the grinning animal crossing the road. Adams turned his flashlight on the animal to blind it, while Borton grabbed it by the tail. The o'possum weighed about seven pounds, according to the officers.

Henry County Court Meets

Secure $4,000 As Festival Guarantee

(Special to The Bee.)
MARTINSVILLE, April 3.—The April term of the Henry County circuit court convened here this morning. There are two murder cases set for hearing, Rusty Hairston and Lathan Davis are to be tried on murder charges. There are also 12 cases involving the seizure and confiscation of automobiles in which whisky has been found. Judge Clements' presiding, made it plain that persons making claims for confiscated cars, must prove beyond any doubt the machine in question is his car. One of such cases came up today and the man who came forward to claim the machine did not satisfy the court that it was his and the car is still being held.

Secure $4,000 As Festival Guarantee

Manley E. Ramos, who has been active during the past several days raising the necessary guarantee for the Philadelphia orchestra, which will be brought here for Danville's May Festival, May 2nd and 3rd, reported today that about $4,000 has been pledged. The actual guarantee required is $6,000 and he is hopeful that the additional $2,000 will be raised during the course of today. There will be a meeting this afternoon of the promoters of the undertaking. Mr. Ramos said this morning that the contract with the orchestra must be signed today and he expressed the belief that this would be done and preparations made to advertise the festival elaborately during the coming weeks.

Jarrett Cleared On Car Theft Charge

Clarence Jarrett was given his freedom this morning after being held several days on a charge of attempting to steal an automobile belonging to Robert Hall. It was revealed that since the attempted theft occurred, Jarrett and Hall have gotten together and tried to compromise in an effort to get the former off as light as possible. Jarrett was held in the jail today and all parties were told to get out. Jarrett was caught, it is said in the act of stealing the Buick machine. He had pressed the starter but had failed to turn the ignition key.

Mrs. W. J. Snyder, Brazil (Ind.) woman touring the Danville area, was shot to death at Shanghai, China, when Koreans sought to assassinate General Gilch Tamm, former Japanese minister of war. Mrs. Snyder's husband, who accompanied her to the Orient, is an Indiana coal operator. Four others were injured in the attempted assassination.

Piedmont Expo. Visited By Many

Monday morning found four or five new exhibitors at the Piedmont Exposition arranging their booths and placing exhibits. Other booth managers were retouching their exhibits for a fresh start this week.

The management of the exposition decided this morning to reduce the admission price from 35 cents to 25 cents.

One of the features of the program this afternoon will be the singing of the school children. The rest of the entertainment program will be carried out in full, both afternoon and evening.

Many booths could be written of the various booths and details of the exhibits if there were space. Exhibitors from out of town are loud in their praise of the exposition as a whole and the way it has been managed. They praise that it compares favorably with anything of the kind that they have seen. One out-of-town exhibitor stated that the booths and the arrangement of the exhibits were the most striking that he had seen anywhere. Expressions from Danville citizens are equally as complimentary.

Various Booths
The Danville Co. has installed a complete wireless apparatus and expects with the aid of its amplifier to present nightly radio programs sent out from Schenectady and Pittsburgh.

The Odell Auto Top and Painting Co. has an attractive display showing samples of actual work. Exhibiting with this concern is the Southern Auto Co. agents for the Chevrolet car.

Robert E. Lee school has an interesting display of school work.

The City Health Department has arranged an impressive array of facts and figures in a manner that will appeal to the general public. (Continued on Page Five)

Noah Moore Will Serve Thirty Days

Noah Moore this morning submitted to a charge of violating the Mapp Act and was sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $100. Moore was arrested Saturday in connection with the discovery of 12 gallons of whiskey in a garage in Opera House alley. Following a raid by police officers. Another charge of transporting ardent spirits is pending against Moore. A few days prior to the raid Moore was caught with two and one-half gallons of liquor in an automobile belonging to Ed. Disharoon.

Generous Bequests Made in J. E. Hughes' Will Probated Today

Dr. Charles Barker At Main St. Church

Dr. Charles E. Barker, of Michigan, brought to Danville, under the auspices of the Rotary Club, spoke for an hour and three-quarters last night before a large congregation at Main Street Methodist church on the subject of "How to Happy." The address was so inspiring and interesting that despite its length, the rapt attention of those who heard him was maintained. It was the consensus of opinion of many who were present that the address was one of the best which has been heard in Danville for a long time and it was indicated that Dr. Barker during his ensuing lectures will have capacity audiences. Parental obligations to the child in the home, a difficult subject if not well studied, was the general theme of the speaker while here. Dr. Barker has studied the problem profoundly, and deals with it in compelling and convincing manner.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon Dr. Barker will address another of "The Relations of a Mother to her Daughters" at Risor Park school, and at 7:30 tonight he will speak to men on "A Father's Responsibility to His Son."

Dr. Barker appeared before the last international convention of Rotarians and made such an impressive and convincing address that he has been in almost constant demand since that time by the various clubs who believe in the power for good in his message.

Dr. Charles E. Barker, of Washington, D. C. made a stimulating address on an hour's session at the Danville High school in the school auditorium at 11 to noon today and aroused great enthusiasm among the pupils, whose close attention he held every minute.

Dr. Barker is a rapid-fire speaker whose impetuous flow of language was aimed to drive plain and practical and helpful truths home to the adolescent or to the adult mind with unusual power. His addresses have an informality about them that enables him to turn quickly from the humorous to the serious and to afford the listener a new manner to his discourse which holds the interest. Equipped with the knowledge of human nature and an accurate apprehension of the juvenile mind, an acute appreciation of the boy or girl viewpoint, he has the capacity to reveal youths to themselves and to enter their feelings, enthusiasm and ambitions in such a way as to make his work effective in holding the mirror up to nature.

In the course of his address he defined education in the terms of Huxley and according to the widely prevalent idea that it is the mere mastery of fact and details of knowledge, but is rather the power of thought and the application of what one learns to the work one has to do in life. With fine imagery and stress on the old truth of the wisdom and importance of doing what one does with one's might, of studying with undivided application and concentration to the subject in hand. He did not deny sports, nor the enthusiasm which youth enters into their enjoyment, but he pleaded for concentration until it became a habit of life and gave activity to the brain cells. In a word, his educational ideal was one based on the convictions of the best educators and psychologists.

Covering the whole range of school-boy and school-girl experience, ability and lack of definite aims and ambitions, he made a forceful plea for true education and for systematic training of the mind to think clearly, logically and to practical effect. In concluding his discourse he tactfully touched upon the relations of high school boys and girls as they have been widely observed and studied and deplored the tendency toward familiarity, unconventionality and sex relations and associations which wear away the finer phases of character and unless arrested sacrifice self-respect and character to the eyes of the boy and in her own eyes.

At 3 p. m. today at the First Presbyterian church Dr. Barker will speak to mothers and potential mothers on the maternal responsibility to their daughters.

At 8 o'clock tonight he will speak to the church on a father's responsibility to his sons. Everybody is invited to attend these addresses.

Dr. Charles E. Barker, of Washington, D. C. made a stimulating address on an hour's session at the Danville High school in the school auditorium at 11 to noon today and aroused great enthusiasm among the pupils, whose close attention he held every minute.

Dr. Barker is a rapid-fire speaker whose impetuous flow of language was aimed to drive plain and practical and helpful truths home to the adolescent or to the adult mind with unusual power. His addresses have an informality about them that enables him to turn quickly from the humorous to the serious and to afford the listener a new manner to his discourse which holds the interest. Equipped with the knowledge of human nature and an accurate apprehension of the juvenile mind, an acute appreciation of the boy or girl viewpoint, he has the capacity to reveal youths to themselves and to enter their feelings, enthusiasm and ambitions in such a way as to make his work effective in holding the mirror up to nature.

In the course of his address he defined education in the terms of Huxley and according to the widely prevalent idea that it is the mere mastery of fact and details of knowledge, but is rather the power of thought and the application of what one learns to the work one has to do in life. With fine imagery and stress on the old truth of the wisdom and importance of doing what one does with one's might, of studying with undivided application and concentration to the subject in hand. He did not deny sports, nor the enthusiasm which youth enters into their enjoyment, but he pleaded for concentration until it became a habit of life and gave activity to the brain cells. In a word, his educational ideal was one based on the convictions of the best educators and psychologists.

Covering the whole range of school-boy and school-girl experience, ability and lack of definite aims and ambitions, he made a forceful plea for true education and for systematic training of the mind to think clearly, logically and to practical effect. In concluding his discourse he tactfully touched upon the relations of high school boys and girls as they have been widely observed and studied and deplored the tendency toward familiarity, unconventionality and sex relations and associations which wear away the finer phases of character and unless arrested sacrifice self-respect and character to the eyes of the boy and in her own eyes.

At 3 p. m. today at the First Presbyterian church Dr. Barker will speak to mothers and potential mothers on the maternal responsibility to their daughters.

At 8 o'clock tonight he will speak to the church on a father's responsibility to his sons. Everybody is invited to attend these addresses.

Dr. Charles Barker At Main St. Church

Dr. Charles E. Barker, of Michigan, brought to Danville, under the auspices of the Rotary Club, spoke for an hour and three-quarters last night before a large congregation at Main Street Methodist church on the subject of "How to Happy." The address was so inspiring and interesting that despite its length, the rapt attention of those who heard him was maintained. It was the consensus of opinion of many who were present that the address was one of the best which has been heard in Danville for a long time and it was indicated that Dr. Barker during his ensuing lectures will have capacity audiences. Parental obligations to the child in the home, a difficult subject if not well studied, was the general theme of the speaker while here. Dr. Barker has studied the problem profoundly, and deals with it in compelling and convincing manner.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon Dr. Barker will address another of "The Relations of a Mother to her Daughters" at Risor Park school, and at 7:30 tonight he will speak to men on "A Father's Responsibility to His Son."

Dr. Barker appeared before the last international convention of Rotarians and made such an impressive and convincing address that he has been in almost constant demand since that time by the various clubs who believe in the power for good in his message.

MUSIC SPLENDID AT EXPOSITION

That music of a high order is more than appreciated in Danville was evidenced yesterday by the reception accorded the programs presented by Yarborough and his Royal Hussar Band at the Piedmont Exposition. The program during the day, one in the afternoon and the other during the evening, both being extremely well liked by the hundreds who heard them.

Probably the biggest feature of the program, both in the afternoon and during the evening, were the several selections, with encores, of Miss Ida Mae Cook, premier whistling soloist. Her presentation of the "Whistler and the Dog" was given a warm reception, as were her encore selections. There can be no doubt but what she will prove one of the biggest attractions of the show. If yesterday's performance can be taken as a gauge of public opinion.

The blare of the trumpet, the "snar" of the trombone, the "run" of the clarinet, the rolls of the drums all came in for their share of attention during the presentation of the programs of the day. Popular as well as classic music was the order of the day, each holding its own against the other, and each proving exceptionally well played by the Hussars.

Yarborough has gathered about him a company of accomplished musicians, all thoroughly schooled in the classic art. Each plays his instrument with a finesse peculiar only to the finished musician. As an organization the Royal Hussar Band ranks with the best, despite the small number of pieces carried.

That Danville people were pleased with the band was shown by the warm reception given the several numbers at both afternoon and evening sessions, which included popular and classical selections, while the popular numbers were loudly applauded, with several encores played as a result.

Two well-balanced programs are being prepared for presentation tomorrow, and will include, in addition to the number of popular selections, the most popular selections from two well-known operas. Both programs will open and close with a march, while an overture will hold an important place in each program as will the selections to be presented by Miss Cook.

It is also announced that Mr. Schade, concertist, will be on the program with a popular selection, while Mr. Hill, trombonist, will be the originator of the far famed "trombone laugh" will present a pleasing program.

MAKE BIG HAIL

A few days ago a party of federal prohibition officers conducted a raid in Henry county that was productive of some results. The officers went to a point four miles north of Martinsville, on the road that leads from north Carolina and the mountains of Virginia to the cities of the State. At 11 o'clock their vigil was rewarded when four cars appeared, all of them laden with liquor, each in charge of one man. The officers captured all four cars, three men and 249 gallons of whiskey. The fourth man scaled the mountain side and disappeared like a rabbit through the underbrush. The men were bailed for their appearance before the federal grand jury. The cars will be confiscated and the whiskey will find its way into the ground.

MRS. W. O. SCAERCE DIES AT BACHELORS' HALL

Mrs. Nannie Allen Scarce, wife of William O. Scarce, of Bachelors' Hall, died yesterday morning at 6:30 after being sick ten days with pneumonia. She is survived by her husband and seven children.

Mrs. Scarce was in her 64 year. She was a devoted member of the Methodist church and was generally beloved and esteemed by all.

The funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at the family burying ground at her home.

Capt. W. E. Steele, roadmaster of the Danville and Western, who has been confined to his home for the past two weeks on account of sickness, is convalescing.

TRANSFER OF 57 HOSPITALS TO THE VETS BUREAU

WASHINGTON, April 1.—An executive order providing for the transfer of 57 public health service hospitals to the Veterans' bureau is in the hands of President Harding and is expected to be issued soon. It was announced today by Director Forbes, of the Veterans' bureau.

The transfer, which involves hospitals in all portions of the country, will affect approximately 27,000 former service men now patients in the institutions, and about 1,000 public service physicians. The physicians will retain their military status in the public health service, but will be under detail for duty with the Veterans' bureau.

With the contemplated transfer, Director Forbes said, all government agencies having to do with former service men will have been placed under the Veterans' bureau with the exception of the soldiers' homes, with which, he said, there already is the closest co-operation.

The hospitals involved in the transfer as announced by Director Forbes include:

Southern Infirmary annex, Mobile, Ala.; Public Health Service Hospital No. 26, Greenville, S. C.; No. 29, Norfolk, Va.; No. 33, Jacksonville, Fla.; No. 48, Atlanta, Ga.; No. 58, New Orleans, La.; No. 60, Oteen, N. C.; No. 62, Augusta, Ga.; No. 63, Lake City, Fla.; No. 74, Gulfport, Miss.

In addition the bureau listed the hospitals now under construction by the treasury department at Tuskegee, Ala.

Five hundred rooms in three Washington hotels have been reserved, Mr. Adams announced.

AT MAJESTIC THURSDAY.

"Angel Face" New Musical Comedy.

First Time in Danville.

Following its success in New York, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, and other centers on its transcontinental tour, flanked by the praises of stage reviewers throughout the nation, Victor Herbert's latest musical comedy triumph, "Angel Face," in three delightful acts, with the original New York cast and a bevy of youthful beautiful girls, comes to the Majestic Thursday, April 6th, wafted on the lilting melodies of Victor Herbert, the recognized monarch of musical comedy.

It is the unusual in the musical comedy world in that it has a plot which endures throughout the evening, a constant source of unending laughter. The first act opens to a titter and ends in an uproar. Complications come thick and fast, finally leaving the lovers, six of such characters being in the story, in hopeless, intricate positions.

Girls of beauty, grace and voice form a captivating background to the principals, of which there are seventeen. The featured members of the cast are: Margaret Zander, who played the title role in George Cohan's "Marv" last season; John E. Young, a musical comedy star, who needs no identification; further than that his clever work made "The Time, The Place and The Girl," Nora Kelly, well known in vaudeville and musical comedy.

In the dancing line will be found eccentric limbs made the original of Joe Mack, whose nimble feet and "Lester Lester" a still talked of event in the theatrical world. Evelyn Creek, like in form grace and cleverness to Mrs. Vernon Castle, has been the comment of countless critics for her delightful dancing. Likewise is every principal and every subordinate a dignified title for the first while crouching girl a devotee of the dance.

Prices 50c to $2.50. Seat sale Monday 19c. m.

NORTH DANVILLE NIGHT SCHOOL ENDS

The North Danville night school held its closing exercises last Thursday night at Bellinger school. A very attractive program was prepared and given by the pupils. The teachers are glad to report the best attendance and largest enrollment in its history.

This school has been under the capable and efficient direction of Mrs. Esther Subler, whose experience in a phase of educational work has especially equipped her for it.

Night schools such as this are fostered and aided in the city and many citizens because they realize the value and importance of affording opportunity for the young of our city.

Saves "Pussyfoot"

While 500 sat paralyzed with fright, Fred C. Walker, Green Bay (Wis.) insurance man, shown here, picked up a sputtering bomb hurled into the aisle of the Union Congregational Church in the course of a lecture by William E. "Pussyfoot" Johnson, who was supposed by the clerk that his Atlanta church doorway, the bomb burst weakly in Walker's hand, blistering his flesh from the hand to the right shoulder.

Check Forger Is Quickly Caught

A man giving his name as H. D. Gurley, of Birmingham, was arrested Saturday at the Depot on a charge of forging a check for $23.50 which he passed on Hodnett and Speer's Jewelry store on Main street. Gurley and his wife were preparing to leave on train No. 29, southbound when the arrest was made. Gurley's wife, whose mother was said to be ill in Atlanta, continued her journey, leaving her husband in the toils of the law.

The man, a stranger here, walked into the jewelry store last night and asked to see some watches. He finally selected a timepiece, the price of which was marked $10 and said that he would buy it. When he was presented with the watch he handed over a check made payable to "J. C. Kyle" and signed "J. G. Gravelly."

The customer said that he was an employee of Gravelly, a painter, and that the check was his week's salary. It was supposed by the clerk that his name was Kyle and the check was finally accepted in payment for the watch and the change, $13.50 in cash, was handed over to the man. The man had gone but a short time when Mr. Speer began to think about the matter, and became suspicious. He notified the police and Detectives J. N. Lewis and J. N. Campbell went to work on the case.

The two officers accompanied by Mr. Speer and his son went to the depot and there found the stranger and his wife, apparently waiting for a train. It was learned that they had purchased a ticket to Atlanta. The man was questioned by the officers and at first denied being the right party but finally confessed. He admitted that he bought the watch and took it out of the suitcase he was carrying and turned it over to the officer. His wife at first objected, but on being told that they would be held until warrants were procured and a search made, she consented to her husband opening the valise. The man, giving his name as Gurley, was arrested and taken to the police station while his wife resumed the journey to the bedside of her ill mother.

Gurley said that he came here about a week ago in search of work. He said that on yesterday he and his wife received a telegram of the critical illness of his wife's mother in Atlanta, requesting that they come there at once. Without money but anxious to go to the bedside of his wife's sick mother, Gurley said he became desperate and decided on the scheme which he attempted on the jewelry store and which landed him in trouble. He is said to have made the purchase in order to get the balance in money. The names in the check are fictitious.

Style Show Is Under Auspices Of Wednesday Club

Among the women of Danville no feature of the Piedmont Exposition is being talked about more than the Style Show to be held on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, held under the auspices of the Wednesday Afternoon Club.

When plans for this show were discussed it was planned to have a small show. However, the plans have developed to such an extent that the Style Show will be the biggest individual event of the whole exposition. More than one hundred costumes will be displayed. Street, sport, home and evening dresses will be displayed in a most elaborate manner and show will vie with any that has been held so far in a southern city.

The merchants who are taking part are having special costumes sent on here from New York for the event and the very latest modes will be seen. The stage settings for the even will be elaborate and appropriate.

The style show will be held under the auspices of the Educational and Industrial committee of the Wednesday Afternoon Club which has joined the merchants to extent of providing girls and young ladies who will wear the costumes at the show and to this extent has become a patron of the Style Show. The furnishings and the decorations will be handled by Clements, Chism and Parker and the silver that will be used will be furnished by Hodnett and Speer.

The speakers platform will be used for the show. An incline approach will be erected and at the end of the incline a dressing room will be built. Appropriate settings will be used for the various kinds of costumes shown, for instance, a gold setting will be used for sport costume. None of the garments to be displayed will have been shown before.

SHIRINERS' SPINX CLUB

The newest organization in this city is the Spinx Club, an organization composed wholly of members of the branch of Masons known as the shriners. It is just a booster club, a live organization, united for development of the life and welfare of the city, to have a part in all civic affairs and in general to promote closer relations between the members. One of the features of the club is the midday luncheon Thursday at one of the leading hotels. All Shriners in the city and State are eligible to membership. It starts with more than 250 members.

D. L. Arey Left $800,000 Estate

SALISBURY, N. C., April 1.—The will of the late D. L. Arey has been filed for probate. It disclosed the fact that Mr. Arey was the largest property owner in Rowan county. In fact, it is stated that this will divides the largest estate ever handled in Rowan.

Ernest C. Arey and Craig Arey, sons, and B. H. Leannover, son-in-law, are named executors of the estate and are designated as trustees for the widow, Mrs. Annie L. Arey, who is the largest beneficiary under the will.

The entire estate is left to the widow and children of Mr. Arey. Estimates of the worth of the estate run from $650,000 to $800,000. It includes both developed and undeveloped property in Salisbury, Spencer and the county, and also property in Danville, Va., and Baltimore.

Fire In Church Interrupts Service

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 3.—Mrs. Margaret Hackney was nearing the end of her sermon yesterday at Centre Friends church, 12 miles south of the city, when a man walked in and said, "The church is burning up."

The congregation immediately rushed outside and discovered that a brisk blaze was shooting along the roof. Bucket lines were hurriedly formed, a ladder was located, and a fireman from the local fire department, Sunday school, and all turned into firefighters with such good results that the flames were overcome after they had burned a hole in the roof about 10 feet across. The loss is covered by insurance.

It is thought that sparks lit on the roof and started the blaze. A member of the congregation, looking out the window, saw the dry grass burning. He went out to investigate and saw the fire on the roof. Then he warned the congregation.

The religious firefighters removed all the benches and church fixtures during the course of the battle, but the blaze did no damage inside the building.

Levee Situation Satisfactory
MEMPHIS, April 2.—Major L. Y. Kerr, United States engineer in charge of the White river, Arkansas, levee district, stated today that reports from engineers sent to Oldtown, where a section of a "front" levee caved in several days ago, indicated that the situation there was "very satisfactory" and that unless "something unforeseen occurs" the main levee there would hold.

Further Reprisals Arouse Belfast

BELFAST, April 2.—Four men were shot and killed and three children were wounded last night in the Sinn Féin area near the Old Lodge road district. The ages of the men ranged from 40 to 63. The children are two, seven and 13 years old. It was another grim week-end for Belfast. The shooting of the men is believed to have been in reprisal for the killing Saturday night of Constable George Turner. The assassin fired at Turner from a vacant house and made his escape. The news of the shooting of the policeman spread rapidly, and despite the curfew hour last night there were scenes of excitement in the streets.

Later heavy rifle fire and revolver firing, punctuated by the shrieks of women and children, was heard and shortly afterwards the bodies of the four men were taken to a hospital, where the wounded children also were conveyed. The father of the children, Joseph Walsh, was one of the men who was killed. All the killings took place in the homes of the victims. Walsh was lying in bed with the two younger children and the bullet which killed him wounded them. Two-year-old Bridget was shot through the head.

Frank Walsh, son of Joseph Walsh, was stopping with his grandmother, a few doors distant from the Walsh home. The grandmother's home also was raided.

The intruders rushed upstairs, seized Frank, who was trying to make his escape through a window, and pitched him downstairs. His injuries are not serious. The grandmother said after the raid that Joseph Walsh had served five years in the war on the western front. She had 13 sons and nephews in the war. Only two of whom returned.

"And this is my reward on their return," the old lady sobbed.

Retail Food Costs Still On Decrease

WASHINGTON, Apr. 2.—Food costs at retail continued to decrease in all of the 16 principal American cities where observations are maintained by the labor department, during the month ending March 15. According to the monthly report issued today, the average of decline since February 15 on the data given amounted to three per cent. One in Detroit, Philadelphia, Rochester, Salt Lake City and Scranton; two per cent in New York and San Francisco; and one per cent in Chicago, Cincinnati, Columbus, Little Rock, Louisville, Mobile, Minneapolis, New Orleans and St. Paul.

For the year ending March 15, 1922, the department placed the total decrease in retail food prices at between 8 and 16 per cent, according to locality, but estimated that costs still remained from 20 to 40 per cent. above 1913 levels.

"Dick" Patterson Wins Position In New Organization

RALEIGH, April 1.—Richard R. Patterson, manager of the leaf department of the American Tobacco Company, in charge of buying and re-drying all bright tobaccos in Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia for that company, has accepted the management of the leaf department of the Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, according to an announcement from the Raleigh-North Carolina headquarters, and later confirmed by Oliver J. Sands, of Richmond, Va., general manager of the association.

Mr. Patterson became associated with the American Tobacco Company in 1906 as buyer on the Greensboro market, and was transferred to Danville, Virginia, in 1908, as assistant buyer on that market until the disintegration of the oldest tobacco company. Placed in charge of the American Tobacco Company's plant as head buyer in 1915 and as assistant supervisor of markets located in Virginia and the Carolinas, he was transferred to Richmond, in 1917, and later placed in charge of buying and re-drying all bright tobaccos in the Carolina, Georgia, and Virginia area.

Simultaneously with the acceptance of the management of the leaf department of the Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association by Mr. Patterson, of the American Tobacco Company, Manager Oliver J. Sands today announced that C. B. Cheatham, of Henderson, N. C., district manager of the Universal Tobacco Co., has accepted the position of assistant manager and head of the bright leaf department of the Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association.

Raised on the farm in Granville county, North Carolina, growing tobacco since early boyhood, for years owner of a store and tobacco business at Lenoir, N. C., Mr. Cheatham later consolidated with J. P. Taylor Company, of Henderson, in 1918 the Universal Tobacco Company took over this business and Mr. Cheatham has since been district manager of that company.

The recent announcement of the appointment of E. C. Williams, legal counsel of the successful sun cured tobacco pool of Virginia growers, as manager of the dark leaf department in the Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, will assure manager Patterson able assistance in the dark as well as in the bright leaf covered by the association.

FORMERLY OF DANVILLE

Mr. Patterson is well known in Danville, having been with the American Tobacco Co. here. He married a Danville girl, the daughter of the late Rev. T. B. Thomas, for many years pastor of the First Baptist church.

Blaze Breaks Out Late Sunday Night and Wipes Out Railway and Other Property.

HIGH POINT, April 3.—Fire breaking out in the Carolina and Yadkin River railroad main office and freight station here last night about 11 o'clock completely destroyed the 600-foot building, swept through three other small buildings, burned five residences and badly damaged another, destroyed five box cars, and did damage estimated to amount to $200,000 or $250,000.

The origin is unknown. At 1 o'clock this morning the fire was still burning but was under control.

Aside from the station and freight depot the destroyed buildings are the S. O. Peebles tin shop with a furniture stock on the second floor of this building; the E. K. Ingram cattle barn, from which the cattle were rescued; the table factory of E. L. Crouch; and the residences of W. T. Pearce, B. C. Pearce, Tom Brady, Frank Johnson and H. A. Shipton, all on Tomlinson street. The residence of Gold, though not completely destroyed, was badly damaged.

When first discovered the flames were breaking out of the roof of the Carolina and Yadkin River railroad's freight station, at a point near the main offices. The office part of the building is three stories high, the remainder one story. The flames spread rapidly through the building and swept on to five box cars standing on the tracks nearby. All five were completely destroyed. One was loaded with Ford cars, another with 600 cases of very recently packed from one of the local factories.

Bristol Welcomes State Labor Men

BRISTOL, April 1.—Officers and members of the executive committee of the Virginia Federation of Labor, arrived here today for the annual convention of the state body which will convene Monday morning in the Virginia courthouse for a three-day session.

About 300 delegates are expected here for the sessions which will come to a close Wednesday evening. Every city in the state, including Richmond, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Roanoke and Petersburg are expected to have representatives here for the meeting.

Meeting Addressed By Collins Broken Up In Dublin

(By The Associated Press.)
DUBLIN, April 2.—A meeting addressed by Michael Collins last night at Castlebar, was stopped by members of the British Western Division of the Irish Republican army after stormy scenes in which a woman was wounded.

Towns Threaten Ku Klux Agent

STAUNTON, April 1.—That Staunton has a chapter of the Ku Klux Klan, numbering about 50 members, and composed of the "very best" class of local men, was the statement made by Dr. J. H. Hawkins, who made an address here on the principles of the Klan.

Dr. Hawkins declared that a committee which he understood to be composed of members of the Knights of Columbus, approached him in Harrisonburg and ordered him to leave town before morning.

"I left Harrisonburg when I got ready to leave," said Dr. Hawkins. He also asserted that a committee had approached him in Staunton and told him not to hold any meeting in this city last night.

In his address, Dr. Hawkins told his hearers that his room at the Virginia hotel was No. 60 and that he would be glad to meet anybody there who had any objections to his work.

A curious assemblage of about 60 persons heard Dr. Hawkins' exposition of the aims and ideals of the Klan.

Two ladies were among those present. There were no old men in the audience, which was composed for the most part of younger men and boys, with a fair sprinkling of those around middle age.

Rooster In Cell Responds To Call Of His Mistress

NORFOLK, April 3.—"Come here, Dick."

With a snap of her finger a claimant of one of the roosters found at 832 Smith street last Wednesday night and locked up at headquarters proved her ownership of the bird today. She had lost a big Rhode Island red and she read that one of the cells at headquarters was filled with fowls that had been stolen. She called to see if her pet was among the fifty or more.

Turnkey Henderson accompanied the caller to the cell and opened the door.

"Come here, Dick," she said, and snapped her finger.

The big rooster knocked over a few hens and a goose and strutted toward its mistress. It was proof enough, and the rooster was turned over to her. Only a few of the stolen fowls now remain at headquarters.

Mass Is Said For Ex-Emperor

FUNCHAL, Madeira, April 2.—"Oh, God, Thy will be done. Into Thy hands I commit my soul and the care of my wife and children. I offer Thee my life as a sacrifice for my people."

Thus spoke Ex-Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary, serene and calm at the moment of his death.

The body of the former emperor-king, dressed in the campaign uniform of a field marshal, lay today in the Chapelle Ardente of the house that has been his residence since he came to Madeira in exile. After it had been embalmed the body was placed in a leaden coffin with an outer shell of mahogany. The bishop of Funchal said mass in the mortuary chapel here today and the local authorities made calls of condolence.

On Tuesday the body will be removed to a private chapel in the mausoleum in the cemetery of Monte Campo.

It was learned today that Charles had been ill for 10 days before a physician was called to attend him.

A CREDITABLE EXPOSITION.

The promoters of the Piedmont Exposition have succeeded in assembling a highly creditable show and one which above all has a certain educational value. Besides stimulating interest in those products which are made in Piedmont Virginia and Piedmont North Carolina and creating thereby a motive for buying those products which are made in our midst it gives us an opportunity of seeing many of the commodities which are made in this region, many of which were not dreamed of by the public at large. For that reason it is deserving of patronage during the present week, during which time the doors of the Piedmont warehouse will remain open.
In addition to the neatly arranged booths containing samples of merchandise or products of this section there will be other diversions during the evenings, such as vaudeville performances and some addresses which should prove added attractions. We do not recall any exhibition in Danville which has been more effectively arranged or which has done more to quicken interest in those industries which immediately concern us.

It is the purpose of the promoters,
we understand, to make this a permanent annual institution in Danville in order to keep the commercial and industrial development of the Piedmont
section periodically before the people.
With the proper co-operation of every industry or manufacture within the confines of the territory it can be developed into something far larger than the mutual venture for besides the wholesome stimulation of support of those industries it tends to show the Piedmont section is not wholly agricultural but that furnishes a productive field for industrial and commercial pursuits. Its success or failure must, however, be measured by the degree of patronage which is accorded it by the people of this community and others in the Piedmont section.

bachelors in America.
Divorce proceedings have resolved themselves into a case of "getting

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 3.— Climax of a case which has attracted the utmost interest throughout Alabama will come here April 6
when three former federal prohibition officers and a former city policeman are scheduled to face trial for murder
in federal district court.
The men will be prosecuted by the state of Alabama with the United States district attorney occupying the role of defense attorney.
The killing for which they are held —that of a backwoods farmer—was followed by mass meetings of protest,
demand for a federal investigation, subscription of a public fund for the widow and children of the slain man and indictment of the officers by the county grand jury after charges of murder had been sworn out by the local coroner.
Clamoring the men were vying in performance of their duty as dry agents, the government intervened, took the case out of the courts and indicted the men for murder.
State attorneys will be assisted in the prosecution by Judge B. M.
Allen, the most noted criminal lawyer in Alabama, who was re-

Tanner Shot.
The killing for which the ex-officers will face trial is that of Curtis T. Tidmore, a backwoods farmer, who was shot on Monday, Feb. 26, last year, while driving a horse-drawn wagon to his field. The killing occurred in the hills of the Tidmore home.

Compensation Testimony.
If the killing was a case of self-defense, the government attorneys will have to prove it. The officers will have to prove that they were not in the act of committing a crime.
The government attorneys will have to prove that the men were not in the act of committing a crime.

DEGIN HER STORY
After eight years of married life,
MARK SABRE comes to realize that he is neither understood by his prosaic and snobbish wife, NONA, nor by his colleagues in the firm of Fortune, East and Sabre.
A promised partnership in the business has been denied him and promised to TWINING, a jealous associate.
Suddenly an old sweetheart,
NONA, now the wife of the dashing LORD TYBALT, returns after two years of travel. Nona becomes jealous of Nona, who visits Sabre at his office. Something makes Sabre suspect that Nona is not happily married. She says she is "just drifting, flossing."

GO ON WITH THE STORY
She said swiftly as though she were stirred. "Oh, Marko, yes, that's mysterious. Do you know sometimes I've seen drift like that, and I've felt oh,
I don't know. But I've put out a stick drawn in a piece of wood just as the stuff was moving off, just to save it being married away into—well, into that, you know."

"Have you Nona?"
She answered, "Do you think that's what life is, Marko?"
"It's not unlike," he said. And he added, "Except about someone coming along with a stick and drawing a bit into safety. I'm not sure about that. Perhaps that's what we're all looking for."

He suddenly realized that he was back precisely at the thoughts his mind had taken up on the morning
he had met her. But with a degree more of illumination. Two feelings came into his mind, the second hard upon the other and crowding it. It was a fierce horseman might, calm and overriding one pursued. He said, "It's rather jolly to have someone that can see idea like that." And then the overriding, and he said with astonishing roughness, "But you—you aren't flossing! How can you be floss-ing—the life you live—then?"

And so if he had struck her, and she been bound, defenseless, and with her eyes entreating not to be struck again, she could not deeper have entered him than in the glance she fleeted from here eyes, the quiver of her lids that first released, then veiled it.

It stopped his words. It caught his true. He got up quickly. "I say, Nona, never mind about thinking. I'll tell you what's been doing. Rotten. Happened just after I met you the other day."

The dust on those roads!" she said. She touched her eyes with her handkerchief. "What, Marko?"
"Well, old Fortune promised to take me into partnership about an age ago."

"Harko, he ought to have done it an age ago. What's there rotten about that?" Her voice and her air were as gay as when she had entered the room. The first thing is that he turned it down. At least practically has
he. He told her of the Twining and Fortune incident. "Pretty rotten of old Fortune, don't you think?"
"Old fiend!" said Nona. "Old trout!"

Sabre laughed. "Good work, trout.
The men here all say he's like a whale. They call him Jonah," and he told her why.
She laughed gaily. "Marko! How disgusting you are! But I'm sorry. I am. Poor old Marko. . . Of course it doesn't matter a horse-radish what an old trout like that thinks about your work, but it does matter, doesn't it? I know how you feel."

She was at the shelves, scanning the books. Her fond, her almost tender sympathy made him, too, feel that it was rather fine. Her light words in her high, clear tone voiced exactly his feelings towards the books. Talking with her was in the reception and return of his thoughts, nearer to reading a book that delighted him than to anything else with which he could compare it. There was the same interchange of ideas,
not necessarily expressed; the same
creation and play of fancy, imagined,
not stated.

She sat briskly forward in the big armchair in which she faced him, making of the motion a movement as though throwing aside a turn the conversation had taken. "Well, go on, Marko. I'm not going to let you stop talking yet. I love that about you.
You never thought of it before.
Yes, you're still a terribly thinky person, Marko. Go on. Think some more. Out loud."

Careless—drawing him on—just
as of old.
He said thoughtfully, "I tell you a thing I often think a lot about. Nona.
You being here like this puts it in my mind. Conventions. This is a convention. I know you'd simply hate my coming like this. Does it seem terribly unconventional, improper, to you, shut up with me in your office?"
He shook his head. "It seems very nice. That's all it seems. Look here, Nona, this really is rather interesting—"

"Yes," he said. "Yes."
Just so he used to bring ideas to her; just so, with "Yes-yes," she used to receive them. "Why, conversation, you know, is the most mysterious, extraordinary thing. It's a code society has built up to protect itself and to govern itself, and when you go into it it's the most marvelous code that ever was invented. All sorts of things that the law doesn't give, and couldn't give, out conventions show up in the most amazing way. And all probably originated by a lot of Mother Grundyish old women, that's what's so extraordinary. You know, if all the greatest legal minds of all ages had laid themselves out to make a social code they could not have got anywhere near the rules the people have built up for themselves.
And that's what I like, Nona—that's what I think so interesting and the

LABOR LEADERS
OFF FOR BRISTOL
A party of Danville labor leaders left last night to attend a meet-in Bristol April 2-4-5. In the party were Luther L. Fair, W. H. Moss, G.

W. Nunnally, Miss Maggie Wall and Mrs. M. F. Wilkinson.
One of the party, Luther Fair, stated
last night that the Danville delegation would make a strong bid for the Federation to meet in Danville next

MRS. MARY A. SPENCER, of Watertown, N. Y., aged 78, who declares she gained fifteen pounds on Tanlac and feels just fine all the time. Was in badly run-down condition.

"Just think of it, at seventy-five years of age to be made well and strong again and gain twelve pounds in weight, but this is exactly what I did after taking Tanlac. Not only that I feel years younger," said Mrs. Mary A. Spencer, East St., Watertown, N. Y.

"For over a year I was in a terribly run-down condition and I was so nervous and restless that many a night I would hear the clock strike every hour. I was able to eat very little and lost strength right along, finally becoming so weak I could hardly walk from one room to the other.

"On account of my age I thought my declining health was natural, but Tanlac has proved that I was mistaken. I can do all my own housework now. I sleep all night long wake up in the morning feeling refreshed and just fine all the day long. Tanlac can't be praised too much."

Exposition

placeards are in evidence and much literature about keeping well and the danger of germs can be had for the asking.
The Union Hardware, the Jarvis Storage Battery Co., Eskimo Pie and the Dan Valley Mills all have attractive displays.
The booth of the Danville Lumber Co. as was predicted several days ago, is attracting much attention. An immense amount of work has been expended on this booth and the marvelous effect attained is well worth the effort. A complete railway system with proper landscape setting has been contrived. The whole is an ingenious piece of workmanship. The Aragon Coffee Co., of Richmond, has a booth near the front entrance of the exposition building. Hot coffee and peanut butter sandwiches will be served free.
The Crystal Candy Co., of Winston-Salem, has a toothsome display of all grades of candies.
The Hooper Cabinet display will be a delight to every housekeeper's eye.

A real work of art is the booth of Clements, Chism and Parker, furniture dealers. A living room set of simple but luxurious lines against a plain blue background with hand-some draperies and lace curtains, lamp and other fixtures and carpet to match the furniture completes a living room that is most inviting.

F. W. Townes, funeral director, has achieved a display of caskets that has been favorably commented upon by everyone who has seen it.
The Rumford Baking Powder Co., of Richmond, will give away hot biscuits, free cook books and a premium with orders. The Rumford booth is one of the most attractive of the out-of-town booths.
Ramey and Ashworth, Piedmont Flour, F. M. Meeks, Tate and Thomas and Doughnut-Riddle Co. all have attractive booths.

The Geoghegan Shirt Co., Relds-ville, N. C., displaying shirts and dresses, is another out-of-town exhibitor that has fixed up a striking booth.

The Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. appropriately have booths side by side. The feature of the "Y. W." booth is the rest room, where the weary are cared for by pretty girls. Of much interest to Danville people will be the booth of the Y. M. B. C., showing the products of 22 different manufacturing plants of this city. This exhibit shows in a striking way the diversification of interests here.

The Vass-Watson Corporation, Heidelberg Lumber Co., Rich-Moore, Wells-Lewis Electric Co., Celery Soda, Leon N. Taylor, Corby's Cakes, Danville Products Co., and the Westbrook Elevator Co., all have appropriate exhibits.

The Arcadia Restaurant, handling Hamlin and Hamlin cigars and candies, has a very attractive booth at the far end of the building.

The Hilltop Sanitarium has a booth which breathes forth the atmosphere of the real institution.

The Register and Bee have a typical booth setting forth the various phases of newspaper work.

The display of the J. Van Lindley Nursery Co., of Pomona, N. C., is a lading rest room.

Other attractive booths to be seen at the exposition include the Equitable Life Assurance Company which has a miniature office on display; B. S. Motley, hardware products; Virginia Hardware Company, hardware products, harness and buggies; Hotel Burton refreshment stand; Coca Cola Bottling Works; Pure Food Bakery; Bahnsen and Company, Winston-Salem, N. C., humidifiers; D. E. Graham and Co., brokers; Chatham Manufacturing Company, wool blankets; W. R. Mitchell, furniture; Maxwell automobile, new sedan model; Knabe Pianos; Danville Battery Company; Dry Fork Milling Company; Danville General Hospital fitted up with a complete single unit hospital ward; Arcadia Restaurant; North-side Bakery; Danville Vulcanizing Company; R. B. Rodgers, dry cleaners; Brown Electric Company; Consolidated Bottling Works; Keeling Brothers, insurance agents.

WOMAN FEEDS STARVING MINERS; BATTLES TO SAVE UNIONISM

MISS ELIZABETH GILMAN, CHAMPION OF STARVING MINERS

BY HARRY HUNT

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Hungry wives and children of evicted miners in the New River district of West Virginia have found a militant friend in Miss Elizabeth Gilman, daughter of a former president of Johns Hopkins University.

She has organized and directed a voluntary relief work that has delivered to these miners' families more food and clothing than has moved through any other source.

Also she has sent plentiful medical supplies.

But she is trying not only to relieve suffering; she is fighting to save a principle.

"The real question in the West Virginia mine fields," she says, "is not simply whether men, women and children shall be allowed to starve. It is whether or not unionism shall be starved to death."

That, Miss Gilman believes, is also the big question underlying the general mine strike.

Always Ready to Aid
In succoring the West Virginia miners, Miss Gilman has not restricted relief to resources on hand.

On the evening of March 12 for instance, she received a telegram from Beckley, W. Va., that evictions were continuing and the need for supplies most pressing.

Before noon of the 15th, 50,000 pounds of flour, corn meal, beans, coffee, sugar, fat-back and other foodstuffs—a full carload—were on their way to Beckley.

"I had only about $1,000 of relief funds in the bank when that call came," Miss Gilman explains, "and the carload cost about $2,000. More interest. It is that of R. W. Betts and Brothers, Almagro, who manufacture brooms and mattresses.

High School Notes

The Parent-Teachers' Association held its monthly meeting in the high school auditorium on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The program for the afternoon consisted of a solo by Mr. Mary E. Ramos and a reading by Miss Frances Fentress. The report of the general council of the association to the school board relative to the urgent need there is for a new high school building was given. An open discussion of the question followed and though informal was impressive. It was pointed out that while a new building would give the high school increased working facilities it would also relieve the congested conditions throughout the city schools. Refreshments, consisting of home-made candies, were served by the domestic science department.

In the reading contest held at the high school on Monday night to choose the readers that would be sent up against Charlottesville, Frank Fowler was the successful contestant. His name was omitted from the account previously published.

Tuesday morning Dr. C. P. Craft, of Averett college came to the high school and brought with him a concert band. Miss Arline Hutchinson, accompanied by Miss Eleanor McCulloch represented the vocal department. Mr. Julian Skinnell, a pupil of Mr. Eugene Putman, represented the piano department. Mr. Skinnell is a pupil at the high school. Miss Rut Burton, a former pupil of the high school, represented the expression department. The young artists were given a warm welcome by the students and each was encored several times.

The high school minstrel, which gave two performances last week, one on Friday and one on Saturday night, was a great success both in the excellence of the production and from a financial standpoint. Howard Hurd as Bo Weevil and Robert Moore, as Black Bass showed themselves to be old timers at being "funny-men." Black Bass "At the Gate" was a scream. Harnsberger and Brown featuring the Gold Dust Twins was a decided hit. The work of William Sublett, as interlocutor, is not to be overlooked. He managed his minstrel circle and end men with an ease that contributed a great deal to the smoothness of the performance. The other end men, and all the between act performance, as well as the members of the afterpiece deserve special praise for the excellent manner of their performance.

Fellowship Meeting

The Sunday afternoon fellowship meetings will be continued as heretofore. The rooms are open from three to six, with a program at four o'clock. The Religious Education Committee has provided for the first Vesper Service.

The Rev. Henry Wade DuBose, D. D., will give a talk on the "Value of Association Membership." Mrs. J. L. Browder, Sr., and Mr. Basil Browder will render a duet, "Let Me Help Somebody Today."

Everyone is cordially invited to fellowship with us and enjoy a social hour after the meeting.

Membership Campaign

Membership opens its oval - uenca. The second annual drive for membership opens Monday. The committee under the direction of Mrs. S. C. Cunningham has worked efficiently and earnestly for several weeks in perfecting plans. Each captain has been given a district which will be carefully solicited on Monday and Tuesday.

The goal is set for 1500 members, at the present rate of dues this does not seem impossible of accomplishment. If you are convinced of the worth of a Y. W. C. A. now is the time to support it by your membership.

The following compose the captains of the campaign.

Mrs. H. E. Merritt, Mrs. C. L. Bailey, Mrs. Henry Thomas, Mrs. W. L. Young, Miss Pattie Douthat, Mrs. W. L. Jennings, Mrs. A. A. Booth, Mrs. R. K. Linville, Mrs. G. F. Geoghegan, Jr., Mrs. L. J. Hall, Mrs. S. Y. Taylor, Mrs. C. C. Pollock, Mrs. M. O. Nelson, Mrs. Parnette Lea, Mrs. John Wither, Mrs. Lily Walton, Mrs. A. J. Grady, Miss Angie Semones, Miss Charles Anthony, Miss Bessie Glasgow.

Library Books

The Educational Committee is handicapped in re-cataloging books for circulation until all those loaned have been returned. While looking through your book shelves for any belonging to the Y. W. C. A. the committee would appreciate contributions to the nucleus of the new library. There is a big need for entertaining as well as instructive reading matter.

Industrial Department

Monday, April 3, Millinery class meets at 8 p. m.

Tuesday, April 4, Morotock club will meet. Miss Martha Fitzgerald and Miss Eleanor Guerrant are advisors. Every member come and bring a friend. Show your loyalty to your new officers, President, Aline Moxley, Vice President, Belle Talley, Treasurer, Miss Mustain, Secretary, William. Plans for the coming program will be discussed.

Wednesday, April 5, 8:00 Bible class under the direction of Miss Caroline Arbus. A very interesting course is being studied, "The Way of Christ." Visitors are always welcome.

Thursday, April 6, 8:00 Business Girls' Club. Remember the date. Wasn't the last meeting just splendid! You cannot afford to miss this one though, so be sure to come. New president and officers are counting on you. All committee members are expected.

8:00 Millinery class under the direction of Miss Weaver.

Friday, April 7, 8:00 Members of Lorillard group and friends remember your club meeting under the direction of Mrs. William McKee.

7:45 All girls from Danville Knitting Mills. This is your "get-together" night. Miss Margaret Haynes and Mrs. L. G. Crumpler are in charge. Miss Lillian White is chairman of the refreshment committee. 8:00 Millinery class meets with Miss Weaver.

Girls' Work Department

Monday, April 3, 3:00-Leaders class will meet with Miss McHenry. All girls who have notified by their principals please be sure and come.
Wednesday, April 5, 3:30 Girl Reserves will meet at the First Presbyterian church under the direction of Miss Helen Cook. A most interesting program has been arranged.

Thursday, April 6, 2:20 High school girls, your chairman of program committee, Bertha McCullum has arranged a "movie" afternoon, don't miss it. Look for notice when group picture will be taken.

Saturday, April 8, 8:00 all come out for our first party of the season. Just turn back the hands of time and become wee kiddies once more. It can be done. Barbara Schwartz and her competent committee have charge of the good time. Come! Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen.

how delicious Karo is until you taste it. Nor how economical it is until you serve it to the entire family. Nor what a wonderful energy food it is for little folks until you serve Karo spread on sliced bread. Your grocer sells Karo in full weight cans at lowest prices.

Why not make some delicious Divinity Fudge today?

2 cups Granulated Sugar
1 cup Karo, Red Label
1 cup Water
1 Egg (whites only)
1 cup Chopped Nuts
1 teaspoon Vanilla

Boil sugar, Karo and water together until it forms a hard mass in cold water. Beat whites of eggs very stiff and beat in nuts and raisins. Pour on the hot syrup, beating constantly. When mass will stand alone dry, turn on paper on glass plate oiled with Masline.

JAP CONSUL
EARNS DEGREE

HONOLULU, T. H., April 1.—Chonosuka Yada, Japanese consul-general here for the past 13 months, was granted the honorary degree of "minister of friendship" today by Governor W. R. Farrington and the trustees of the Pan-Pacific Union, just prior to his departure for Japan on his way to Siam, where he will become the Japanese minister.

The degree has been instituted by the Pan-Pacific organization in memory of the late Henry Stead, Australian journalist, who recommended, in a paper delivered before the Press
Congress of the World here last year,
that the governments of the Pacific divert one per cent of the amount of their appropriations for military and naval establishments to the institution of a minister of friendship "in each country, to work toward effecting better relations among the people of the Pacific.

Yada was the first to receive the degree, which was granted in recognition of his efforts toward solving racial problems during his tenure of office here, it was announced.

The degree will be conferred annually, hereafter.

TIGERS TO BREAK CAMP

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 1.—The Detroit American League club breaks camp here tomorrow morning and begins the last lap of their training trip which is to take them into Cleveland on April 10th for the opening of the American League season. President Frank J. Navin, of the Detroit club was here today in conference with Manager Ty Cobb, and it is expected that the recruits who are not needed will be weeded out as the big league squad leaves for the North.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

The General Assembly of Virginia
at its session for 1922 just closed, amended the tax laws with regard to intangible property covered by class 1, which take in bonds, notes and other evidences of debt. The old law required a detailed statement of all this class of property and allowed a credit for indebtedness of a like character. The amendment referred to above, requires a detailed statement but allows no credit for indebtedness, but reduces the total rate of taxation from $1.10 per hundred to 55 cents per hundred. The amendment prescribes a penalty of double taxes and also outlaws the notes and bonds in any suit at law for their recovery if they are not properly listed for taxation.

Tax payers who have already made annual payments any day from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. if they own any of this class of property and failed to list same.

Amazing
Scenes

Based on Wm. A. Brady's Famous Play By Lottie Blair Parker and Job. B. Grismer

A simple, old-fashioned story of plain people, embracing the four seasons.
A story of loves—Man and Woman—Mother and baby.

A great bell tolling Humanity.

A story of laughter—Rabelaisian horseplay.

Quaint absurdities—springing, gay barn dances—sleigh bells ajingling.

Love's voice—sweet and low—strong and tender—across fragrant fields and twilight streams.

In the end, amazing scenes, March storm, ice break-up, Anna and David carried with blinding mass of broken ice down the roaring river.

Special Music Score

Composed and selected by Louis Silvers, and Wm. F. Peters, Rendered by the

Broadway De-Luxe Orchestra, (Augmented.)

Under the direction of Mr. Bert Hollowell, director of the National Theatre Orchestra, Greensboro, N. C.
